

Richard Gates

Mission

To restore in our students the image of God through an academic program that promotes the harmonious development of the physical, mental and spiritual faculties.

Vision

To see youth prepared for the kingdom of God and actively involved in service to God and their fellow man.

Fruit harvest

In the Bible we are told that "there is more joy in heaven for one sinner who repents than for ninety-nine righteous people who need no repentance."

How true these words are, not only referring to joy in heaven, but also to the joy we experience as we see our students give their lives to God.

Each student has a different story, different struggles and different challenges. But the truth of Romans 1:16 that "the gospel is the power of God unto salvation to everyone who believes" is equally true for each of them. Each of these souls is the fruit of the Holy Spirit's work in their hearts, and the result of our feeble human efforts to be co-workers with God.

On December 1, the pastor of Guayaramerín officiated a special baptismal ceremony, a date that marked the "new birth" in the kingdom of God for our students.

Paola Colque

At first it was a bit difficult for her to keep up with the academic rhythm and fulfill her responsibilities, but she has been surpassing herself and one day she expressed to me the reason for his progress. I asked her what had changed, why she now had a better pace in class, which was evident to all teachers. She replied that since she started studying her Bible every morning she felt like she could now understand what the teachers were saying in classes and it was easier for her to do her homework.

This year she expressed her desire to be baptized and together with other students entered the pre-baptismal course we had prepared.

The challenges will continue for her as she advances in her academic development, but now that she has sealed her commitment to God it is our desire that she continue to grow also in the grace of Christ.

Daniel Mamani

Every time new students arrive, we as human beings can see in the expression on their faces only a little of their life. When Daniel arrived this year there weren't many smiles on his countenance. After learning a little of his story and the treatment received at home, we understood the reason for many of his reactions and attitudes. But there is nothing that the love and grace of Christ cannot overcome.

The smile on his face now expresses the change God is making in his heart, and we know from Scripture that "he who began the good work" will continue it until the coming of Christ.

Now that he has been baptized, he is the only Adventist in his family, and he will remain a living testimony of what God can do in the lives of every young man if he surrenders to his transforming power.

Gratefulness

We are very grateful to God for what we learned this year. God has been faithful to provide for our physical and spiritual needs. Many experiences remain to be told in which we have seen His mighty hand bestow upon us His grace, wisdom, encouragement, encouragement, strength, and many other blessings.

We thank each volunteer who has put their time and effort to bring this school year to a close. Also to the parents who have been involved in one way or another and have been part of our story.

Thanks to each person who sustains us from a distance with prayers, words of encouragement and economic contributions that have arrived, on many occasions, in response to prayers of faith.

Our longing is to continue working for the cause of God and our motivation is to see the work God does in us and our students.

